Welcome to UK travel planning podcast. This is episode 63. This week, I'm really excited to be talking to Cheryl Ridpath Conway about her trip to Edinburgh. And Cheryl appeared in episode 13 about her family trip to London, and which is one of our actually most downloaded episodes. So if you haven't listened to that episode, I do recommend that you download that and take a listen. But, I'd like to welcome Cheryl back on to the podcast again. Welcome, Cheryl. Hi. It's so nice to see you again. It's lovely again to be able to chat with you and catch up with, your latest trip over to the UK. So first of all, would you like to start by introducing yourself, telling us who you went on the trip with, when you went, and also just how long you went for because it was quite short.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:01:22]:

It was a very short. Okay. So I'm Cheryl. I'm a stay at home mom from California. We have 3 teenagers. The oldest is going to NYU in a couple of weeks. The middle one is a rising junior and then my youngest is a thirteen year old. And my middle one, is looking at colleges primarily in the UK. So her number one choice is University of Edinburgh. Which is why we went just for a quick time. They were, my older 2 were with the school on a trip in Europe to London, Paris, and Barcelona. Ah, so I picked them up in Barcelona. Yep. And then we skid out all over to Edinburgh, packed it all in, and then we met my husband and other daughter in Dublin spent 2 weeks in Ireland. Oh, perfect. And that's why I thought this would be an excellent podcast episode to actually chat to you about how because you had 36 hours. Is that correct? 36 hours in Edinburgh? Yeah. A lot of that. So so which is which is amazing that because you pack a lot in, and I know you pack a lot into your trips.

Tracy Collins [00:02:04]:

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:02:28]:

My kids are like, Like, the whole time, I'm like, come on. People were burning daylight. We hung up in 5.

Tracy Collins [00:02:35]:

And you were there in June as well, so you got plenty of daylight.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:02:39]:

Yeah. July. Yeah. July 7. okay. So I was at -- Yes. Yes. because I was picking your brain about Dean's village. Yes. Absolutely.

Tracy Collins [00:02:48]:

So okay. So was yourself and your middle middle daughter? Middle and oldest. Middle and oldest daughter who are in Edinburgh. And the primary reason was looking at the university, which is solidified as number 1 as a choice. That's so exciting.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:02:57]:

Tracy Collins [00:03:04]:

So it If she can get in. Yeah. Well, yeah. Yeah. Yeah. Hopefully, she will. Oh, my fingers crossed. That would be great. And then you'll have to visit Edinburgh loads on loads of times, and the rest of you can load some other times. Just excited. Yeah. Okay. So that was the kind of background to to why you weren't Edinburgh for because you went off to Ireland, obviously, after that, for a couple of weeks, didn't you? So you did that 2 weeks trip round round island. So -- Yeah. -- this was kind of like an an add on so you could go and explore Edinburgh for your daughter. So that's great. So how did you decide What you're gonna fit into those 36 hours to make the most of Edinburgh?

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:03:36]:

Well, I post the question on your Facebook group. Like, if you only had a day, And, overwhelmingly, everyone said the castle, the castle, the castle looked. So I knew I needed to fit that in. so I looked at the times at the University of Edinburgh, school tours, the campus tour. Yep. And then, book that first because that was their priority. And then I tried to get into the first time slot of the day for the castle, but, it was already booked. So, I got into, like, an 11 o'clock, which altered what I did there. because normally similar to the tower of London, where you beeline it to the crown jewels and then kind of explore. I since we're at 11 o'clock, I was already pretty crowded. we just decided to skip the crown jewels. We had just seen them in London. and I didn't wanna wait in the 2 hour long queue. So, but that's always my first advice. If there's something you really wanna see book first time slot of the day, get there early for that, like, pre q and then beeline it. Yeah. No. That that's a that's good advice. And, obviously, when when you 36 hours as well. You have to prioritize what you want to do and see. Yeah. I just say, you know, even when you were there kinda taking that Right. Making that decision, and we're not gonna see the crown jewels because we haven't got the time to to wait for them. So, what did you include in in your itineraries? Obviously, you know, the Edinburgh Castle,

Tracy Collins [00:04:35]:

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:04:56]:

Right. So it, like, as you know, Edinburgh is very small. So we were able to check a lot of stuff off the 1st night We were initially gonna go to Arthur's seat, but we our plane was delayed and it was raining. And so it was, like, 7 o'clock at night, and we're like, let's just say that for next time with god willing. She goes to school here. so we just checked a bunch of things off like gray fryer or Bobby or, gray fryer Kirk yard. we were looking for the Writers Museum, and we kept googling it, and we were like, this it says it's here. This is the address. Where is it? And then we realized you had to go through a little close and for your listeners that don't know, a close is like a tiny little alley in Denver. And then we walked through there. And then there was the writers museum. So we were able to, like, check off a bunch of stuff. And, we're big. I think you remember this. but we're Bay Harry Potter fans. Yeah. So, we went to gray fryer Kirkland. So let me I don't I'm assuming that people know what I'm talking about, but Gray Fryer Bobby is, obviously, as you know, that statue -- Yeah. -- outside of Grey Fryer Kirkwood. And he was a dog that in the 18 forties or fifties. He lost his owner, and he sat and he watched his grave for 14 years. So he was kind of adopted, but the city of Edinburgh. Yeah. And then after he passed away, they memorialized him with the statue. And then behind him is the Kirk yard. the, the graveyard where the owner is. And there's also a lot of names you would recognize, like potter, McGonigal, Tom Riddle. So JK Rowling used to go through there and look for inspiration for when she's writing Harry Potter. So we went and saw, like, all those grades and, It was great because it was kind of raining, but not really. So the Royal Nile was empty. The -- Okay. -- the graveyard was empty. So we got in the middle of summer, these really, like, great pictures and, so that was good. But, we had done the Harry Potter Tour in London, and Then we went to Edinburgh and everything made more sense in Edinburgh. Like, they were like, oh, this is in London. They're like, this is inspiration for Diagonally. And I'm like, I don't really see it. But there when you're on, like, kinda like a row whenever you're like, oh, I see this. You know? You really could see the inspiration and then, bro. magical. She was living there when she when she started writing books as well because the elephant, has caffeine. Elephant house. Fortunately. Yeah. But, there was a fire a couple years ago. Dug and I were we we with we're there in, I think, 2020.

Tracy Collins [00:07:25]:

And the fire, I think, was later on that year. But, we what I didn't do was go to the bathrooms, which is where everybody said you should have gone. So, but, unfortunately, it's still not open. I'm not sure if there's gonna be a date don't know. I keep trying to follow that, see if that that opens up because that's why there was a table there where she sat and wrote the books. Yeah. That's it was still closed when we went there. We got pictures on the outside, but, yeah, Yeah. Okay. So that was just that was our 1st night. Like, got some my kids, I should also mention my kids have celiac disease. so when we travel, everything is around safe gluten free restaurants. And I know you've included stuff like on the afternoon teas about gluten free. So we had a list, a restaurants that were not dedicated, but safe, and we wound up not going to any of them because we went to all dedicated places. But the first night, we just went to a place called Freet's and got French fries. We stayed in a place called, Residence Inn by Marriott. which is very, very central. It's like less than 10 minute walk to the university, less than 15 to the castle. So very central. And so the fry place does not quote Not far from there. Okay. But, yeah, little tangent, but tofu. But, yeah, they're for celiac people, There's a place called GF Cafe, which was phenomenal, like, fantastic. We got paninis that were amazing. Like, these chicken pesto caninis, My daughter had, like, a walnut honey cake a little out of the way, not in that main center, but definitely worth the trip. The hours are not long, like, 9 to 3 ish. Yeah. But, highly, highly, highly recommended for anyone going.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:07:48]:

Tracy Collins [00:09:05]:

Okay. That's good to know. And I'll I'll I'll link to that in the, the show notes as well. What time did you arrive, what time did you leave kind of the next day? It was, like,

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:09:13]:

6, 7 PM at night on a Thursday. Yeah. And then we left at 7 AM on Saturday morning Okay. So we basically just had Friday there. Yeah. Yeah. He had Thursday night to pop around. Rod Stewart was giving a concert when we were there.

Tracy Collins [00:09:30]:

Oh, so pretty busy.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:09:32]:

Well, it would have been, I think, if it wasn't raining. Yeah. But, have you seen that structure on the castle? Yes. They kind of build this really ugly structure coming off the castle, which is a sin because it takes away, I think, from the beauty. But the cool thing is just walking around the city, we could hear Rod Stewart, like, clears a bell. I'm like, I feel like I'm at a Rod Stewart concert right now.

Tracy Collins [00:09:55]:

That was cool. Yeah. The build up for the the Edinburgh tattoo. So they start that in May. I think it is. We've been there May. And, of course, then you've got all the noise of the band putting all the structure up. Yeah. So that -- Yeah. that's there for the for the Edinburgh tattoo. So, we'll be then December, January, so it won't be there. But, yeah, I know it's it yeah. It's unfortunate, isn't it? When it's it kinda is a bit ugly in front of the castle.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:10:16]:

Right. Yeah. Because that castle, we've been a lot of Like, we just went 2 weeks in Ireland. My kids at the end of Ireland were like, I feel like Castle are our new church because at the end of Italy, they were so sick of churches. at the end of Ireland. They're so sick of castles. Yeah. But I do think the coolest one I've ever seen is Edinburgh because it's like King Arthur ish, like, coming out of the ground, you know, how it's, like, kind of built on that. what do you call it? Thank you. Yeah. It's, that was so cool.

Tracy Collins [00:10:52]:

Oh, it is. It is lovely. And so fantastic walk up to it as well when you walk up the Royal Mile. Yep. That's a lovely walk. And, obviously, you've got all those little closes off the Royal Mile as well. We've we've got great little great names I did a historic, Royal Mile walk into in, last time I was there 12 2020. I was there this year, but unfortunately, it got sick. So I didn't do it very much. but, yeah, which was really interesting kinda learning all about the history of the the and the names of the closest. And and, yeah, yeah, that was it was it's worth doing if you if you're there longer. So next time when you'd want to go to the community, definitely recommend to learn a bit more about the history. I would like to do that. Yeah. Yeah. That week. I was looking at our schedule, and we had this one tiny gap because we had eaten where I had, like, 2 hours free. I'm like, oh my god. How did I do this? 2 hours free in my schedule? So I'm like, on my phone booking stuff, and I wound up booking like a which trials?

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:11:38]:

Tracy Collins [00:11:47]:

Oh, yes.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:11:48]:

Tour really interesting content. Yeah. Delivery was a little weird. I have to say because she was dressed like a witch, and it was very clear she had a script. Yeah. But she wasn't, like, a great when I don't mean to be mean, but, like, so she would deliver this like, oh, I forgot to have something on me cauldron at home. I'm like, oh, okay. -- but really great content. Yeah. So, like, just clicked along the Royal Mile and was like, oh, the heart of midlothian. This through, Mary Queen has got this. Yeah. Rate content. So I actually highly recommend the tour. this is a just be prepared. That's, like, a little hokey. Yeah. Yeah. Yeah. A little cheesy and everything. But it's, it's called Edinburgh, which is a history walking tour, and I think it's I welcome tours. Okay. but, really great content.

Tracy Collins [00:12:37]:

Yeah. You get to learn something when you -- Yeah. -- because it's the fa the history's fascinating. When you walk up there, you're like, it's amazing. what you find out, you're like, oh, it's a little bit gruesome. The weather wasn't great when you're there. It was a bit was a bit rainy, as you say, but -- That night. Yeah. Oh, yeah. Just -- The next day was gorgeous. Oh, perfect. And that's typical UK weather. I do say that to everybody. It's like, you know, when we went to, this year, it was the weather was lovely when we're there, unfortunately, we're sick. but the last time we went in 2020 oh, we've been I don't know. We've been so I think we were three times the last 3 years, but in 2020, I remember because we we went, oh, no. It would be like it would be last year because it was May. So, 2022, we arrived on the Sunday. I got sunburned. It was part. The next day, I'm covered head to foot with, jumper scarf, raincoat. I was freezing, and it was pouring down rain entire day. The day before, beautiful Sunshine. So I don't know if that's typical. Yeah. That's what they say in Ireland. You'll get all four seasons in 1 hour. And it was true. It was like, oh my. It was schizophrenic. the weather, but that it was cool. Yeah. It's absolutely like that. So, did you did you did you get to Dean Village? because I know we chatted about that. Yes.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:13:45]:

So the so Friday, which was their one full day there, we got we started our day at 7:30 AM. Yeah. And then we went we went straight to the ventill steps. Do you know the ventill viewpoint, the ventill steps? Yes. Which is the those stairs. And then at the top, there's the best view of the castle in Edinburgh. Yeah. And we just took, like, a bunch of selfies and then headed over to Dean Village. which is absolutely beautiful, but I think I hyped it up too much in my mind. Like, I had a I don't know why I thought it was more of a destination place, and it was just more like a place that if you went to your back, oh my so pretty here. And because it really is so pretty. Yeah. But I don't know that you would need to make it a priority like I was doing, but, I still think you should get there. You know what I mean? You don't have to get up at 7:30 in the morning to go like I did, but You should definitely walk by. And the people were so nice. Yes. We went to a little cafe there and just talked to people walking their dogs, like, just really nice people.

Tracy Collins [00:14:45]:

Oh, that's good. Yes. We we went to be honest, it was the first time that I'd visited when I went to Dean Village because it we always do all the main highlights, and and I was like, yeah. Yeah. very pretty. We went about 5 o'clock. Quite a lot of people there. It's very popular now. People taking lots of selfies and lots of pictures, but I did take some rather pretty pictures, which I was really pleased with. I will put in the sheet, and some of yours, obviously, some of your pictures.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:15:07]:

so then after that, where did you head to? Then we went down to put called sugar daddy's, which is, a gluten free cafe for breakfast. Yeah. But we had to wait till they open at 10. So kinda hung out. They don't have any seating. So we just got some, like, muffins and sat on a bench, ate them, and then be lined it to the castle because we had 11 o'clock entry time. And the castle was sold out for the day, so it was really good that we didn't try and wing it when we got there. So we went to the castle. And like I said, we skipped the crown jewels, but there's a lot of really other cool stuff there. just the view from the castle is so pretty. Yes. It's Vuzix 1. Yeah. That tiny little chapel. I can't remember which, royal it was, but you know what? Which one I'm talking about? There's this tiny little chapel

Tracy Collins [00:15:57]:

And you walk in. It can fit, like, six people, but it's really cute. do you? I've got pictures of it. Yeah. And I can't remember the name of it.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:16:05]:

I can't remember her either. And then there, we went to see, like, the birthplace of King James where Mary Queen of Scots had him in this tiny little room. Like I said, though, once you've seen, I hate to, like, minimize the history and the beauty of these things, but when you've seen one castle, when you've seen a 100 castles, you've kind you know, they lose their allure, I think, a little bit. Yep. No. I agree. But there is Yeah. But, it was just cool. And like I said, I just love the way that the castle is kind of built coming out of the earth. I just I just know that it had, like, a very medieval King Arthur. Yeah. It's a lot feel to it. It's x caliber.

Tracy Collins [00:16:48]:

So after the castle, when did you head?

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:16:51]:

So after then we went to, the University of Edinburgh tour. And so my one daughter went back to the hotel, and I just went with my middle daughter. And, really great informative tour. It was 1 hour long. It happened to be graduation. I guess they do multiple rounds of graduation, so it was kinda cool to see the students in their their outfits, but just really solidified that she wants to go there. We also visited Trinity College in Dublin and University of Galloway, and we've obviously done a bunch in the US. And she saw American University of Paris, but this was, like, It was the town. It was the university. Just everything about it. It's just really cool. Oh, that's so exciting. But it's, like, 16th in the world. I think it's it's Princeton and Yale, bookend it in terms of the world list. So it's very hard to get into. And so that was our main purpose in the trip. So then we did that. Then we went to that cafe that it's called the GF cafe that I told you about. And then after that, we went back to the university area, and there's, a gluten free food truck kind of thing. It's all crepe. It's called I don't even know how to pronounce it. Tupenquin. But it's got savory crepes if you wanted, like, a steak 1 or something like that, but we just got the lemon and then the teller. But anyone who has celiac or gluten free, there's a really great crate truck dedicated. Then we had this weird little break which, which I never have a little break. I don't know why I did this. So then, like I said, I scheduled this switch tour, which was great. It started at St. Giles. and then just went along the Royal Mile. So like I said, it was only like an hour long. Each stop was just a couple minutes and full of really great content, really interesting, really great content. Little odd delivery. but I think that's just subjective of who which guide you get because -- Yeah. Yeah. They probably have 10 guides there, and it's just depending on their ethic and ability. But, yeah, but whoever wrote that script did an excellent job because it's It's really great content. Okay. That's good. And we were just like, my kids get overwhelmed with information sometimes because I send them on a lot of tours or redo tours, but, so it was like, but my main goal was knowing about the witches and then Mary Queen of Scots. and, the witness 1, it's like half hang nappy is it. Have you heard that story? No. This bay hung this woman for witchcraft. She would and then, took her body down and, like, her friends wanted to bury it so they took the body away. then she, like, started breathing again. they hadn't haven't broken her neck. It was kind of more bitter. But, so she was alive. And she lives, and they couldn't try her again for it. Oh. I guess you can't be tried again twice for the same thing. So she lived, like, another 50 years and was like half half hogmaggie or some I forget her name, but something like that. Let's find out. That's interesting. Yeah. Yeah. So it was all these little little -- Yeah. things that you remember, which I yeah. Yeah. I always think if I can retain 10% of what I hear, then I'm a lot better off than I was. Oh, yeah. Absolutely. Okay. And then after that, we shopped along my candle maker row, and then we did 8 to 9. We did real. Mary King's clothes. Yeah. Yeah. Which was very interesting.

Tracy Collins [00:20:23]:

Yeah. Okay.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:20:24]:

Again, with the haunted, I I think -- Yeah. -- if Edinburgh is the most haunted place, then this particular spot is, like, the most haunted in Edinburgh. Right? Yeah. Yeah. There's Annie's bedroom, which is this bedroom that psychic in the 19 nineties went to go in and couldn't enter because it was so anguish filled, and it turns out it was a little girl named Annie who had gotten separated from her doll. So the psychic brought a doll, and now the spirit is, like, content. So all these people bring dolls for the girl, and there's, like, a 100, $200 in this little room. So -- Oh, wow.

Tracy Collins [00:21:00]:

I'll have to adapt to my, yeah, my itinerary for in December. If I get, oh, January, probably January, we will be in in Edinburgh. I get I'll get a little bit I get a little bit scared.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:21:13]:

I know. It's it wasn't bad though. it was more also the plague stuff. It was a lot of the plague focused, because it decimated Edinburgh, the black, the last round of the black leg. Yeah. Yeah. So then I get, like, is it still in the air? You know, like that? I get more worried about them as spirit. Yeah. No. For sure. So that that was kinda a full day then. Was it? That was our full day. And then we left at, like, 7 minutes ago. We do photo shoots everywhere we go. And as we're walking out of this one, so when you're shot, my daughter was like, hey, mom. Look. And it was people dressed like, you know, Vikings or whatever the and I was like, oh my god. Let's do it. And I have no. And I'm like, why did you show it to me then? And they refused to do it. this photo shoot, but then we saw this guy, I'll send you his picture who had, like, the blue face, like, braveheart, and who was dressed fully of the and he had like, swords and stuff. I'm like, hey, can I take a picture of you? And we're like, sword fighting, and my kids are like, oh my god. And he's like, I'm gonna do all the

Tracy Collins [00:22:19]:

So you got your pictures.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:22:21]:

I got my pictures. Yeah. And he was, like, right outside the Royal Mile, like, by that entrance. I mean, outside the castle on the Royal Mile. Yeah. Yeah. Near which as well. Okay. So that's cool. So you got your pictures. because I know you you like to have your, pictures taken, which is lovely wherever you go. every family shop. Yeah. The the still one of my favorite pictures ever is the the one of you guys, in London at Oh, the Beatles, walk -- Oh, the Abbey Road. Abby Road? That's it. What up my head? Yeah. Abby Road. That's such a cool picture that you guys have taken. It's so It's it's in the show notes episode 13. Everybody wants to see that. It's it's -- My kids are good sport. They are married. They really are. They really are. It's really good. So how did you get rugs? Obviously, you, you flew in and flew out of Edinburgh. So how did you get from the airport into the city? cab. Okay. So you picked that up outside the station? because we get asked that a little times there. Yeah. We didn't prebook anything. and so we just grabbed a cab right there and and then walked everywhere in the city. Perfect. Perfect. Okay. Brilliant. So I'm gonna ask you the one tip that I ask anybody that I chat to on the podcast. And this is the one for you, Cheryl. So what would be your one tip for anybody planning a trip Edinburgh for the first time. I would say prioritize what you wanna do,

Tracy Collins [00:22:25]:

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:23:39]:

and then rebook rebook. Freebook. Because I don't know if it's post COVID or what, but you cannot go somewhere and just wing it. the castle was sold out for the day. when we were in Amsterdam Rykes Museum and Van Gogh were sold everywhere we have gone in the last couple of years,

Tracy Collins [00:24:00]:

all the popular places are sold out. That's a great tip, to be honest, because you just can't wing it. You can't wing it these days really for popular places. You just can't London and think you're gonna go to Western State, I'll be on the same day or tower of London or it it's just you you're gonna be disappointed. Yeah. So, you know, we say that all time, if there's something that you really wanna do, really wanna see, you need to book it. As soon as you know, you go in and you've got a big idea of what your time your your timetable's gonna be, your days, then prioritize and get those things booked and plan everything else around it if you need to. Yep. No. That's the thing. And I asked my kids, because I saw this question. What was your favorite thing or the highlight of the trip? Oh, yeah. because for me, I just it's always the architecture,

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:24:40]:

right, like, especially in a place like Edinburgh where it's so unique. So I asked my kids what their favorite thing was, and they both said the venue steps, which I thought was an interesting thing because it's a, it's free. Yes. And, b, it's, like, not that crazy, but they're really into, like, Instagram and stuff. So

Tracy Collins [00:24:59]:

They just took, like, a 100 pictures of each other with their poses. I can imagine. Yeah. So that would be perfect place to get that that shot for for the Instagram account.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:25:08]:

Yeah. If you have teenage girls, you might wanna check that out. Take them there. Absolutely.

Tracy Collins [00:25:13]:

Okay. Well, Cheryl, thank you so much for calling on the podcast again and talking about your trip to Edinburgh. I'm hoping that you're gonna get there for longer next time. Yes. But you certainly packed a lot into 36 hours. Yeah.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:25:25]:

I really wanted to do the Harry Potter train.

Tracy Collins [00:25:28]:

The -- Yeah. Checkmate. Yeah. Good fun. That is it. Lovely. And yeah, up to, yeah, Fort William and Glencoe. And, yeah, it's my one of my favorite places in the entire world, without a doubt, and I've, you know, traveled a lot, and it's still, yeah, still get the call back there all the time. It's funny. You know, you have that, don't you? But it's really exciting, sir. You know, hopefully, you'll you'll get back to Scotland for a for a longer trip, sometime soon. And then we can talk about that on that on the podcast as well.

Cheryl Ridpath Conway [00:25:56]:

Yes. I know. And if you expand to Dublin or Ireland, oh,

Tracy Collins [00:26:01]:

I've got a lot of notes on -- We have got an episode about Ireland, so I'm happy to talk about, visiting, island, the public of Ireland. Yeah. Definitely. obviously, not in the UK, but but a lot of people will visit, London and then and then pop over to to Dublin and do a trip. So, yeah, we can always have a chat about about doing that. But for this this episode, just wanna say a huge thank you for that. Thank you, miss Sandra, for you. thanks Cheryl. You can find the show notes, all of everything that we talked about in this episode was Cheryl in the show notes, for this episode, which is atuktravelplanet.com. forward slash episode 63. we have some other episode, information about Edinburgh on the website and also, in a episode. I think it was 50 8 or 59 of the podcast, you can find more and more about Edinburgh where we share our tips. But for this week, that just basically say happy UK travel planning.
